sector on the grounds that existing structures, which were often established in a markedly different market and intuitional environment than exists today, may have become inappropriate.

In light of on-going global financial crises, the institutional structure of financial regulation is currently a subject of significant academic and practical interest. The financial crisis has called into question the adequacy of financial regulation at the national and supranational levels, and has instigated financial regulatory reforms in major markets overseas.
